We are clearly falling into our cycle that is approaching the 1st week of November. This means that a low is approaching. We don't think that the cycle is a breakdown because we are too oversold. We expect the rally to last until late January 2021.

Today we going to be looking at AAPL, AU, SP500, FTSE 100.

Look out for the Intra-Week update in the next few days.

APPLE (AAPL)

Above is a Monthly chart of Apple with 4 Gann fan lines. Fan 1 and 2 caught the high. Fan 3 is holding support. If Fan 3 breaks, we looking at coming to Fan 4. We don't believe that will happen now.

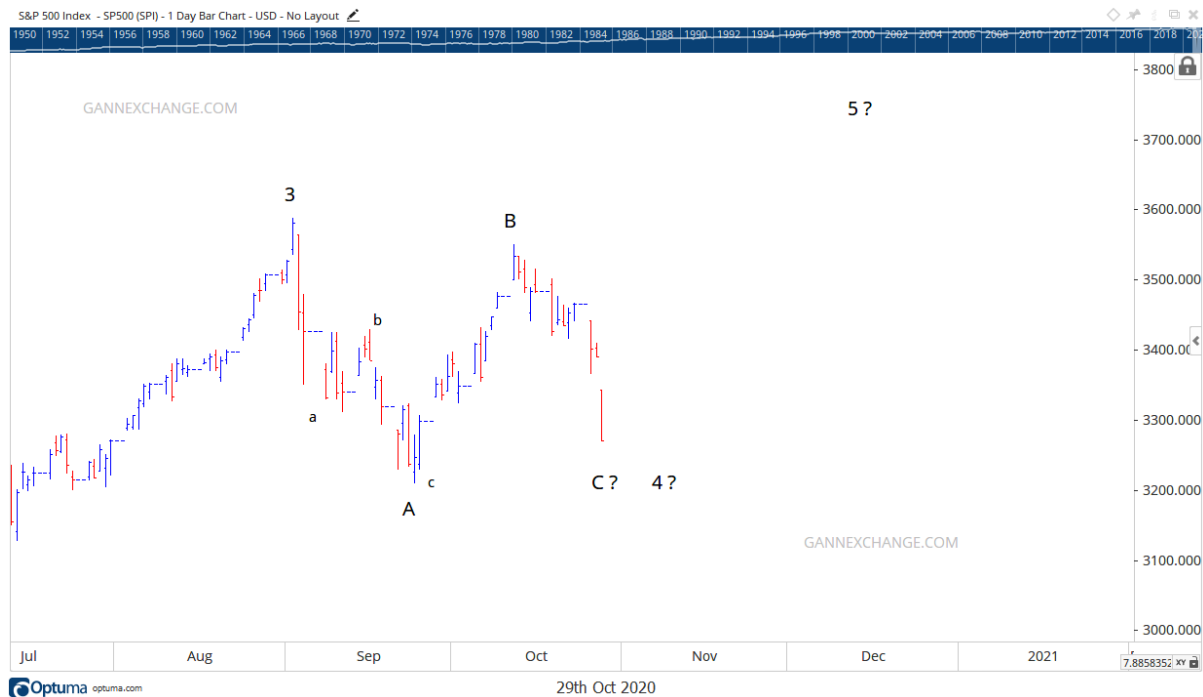

Look how nicely the rallies and corrections are contained within Fan 2 and Fan 3.

AngloGold (Au)

Above is a weekly chart of AngloGold with 3 Fan lines, a Time factor and Gann support. The stock has been hammered and is deeply oversold, and at a support in Time and Price. Buy at 22.50. Keep a stop loss at 21.50.

S&P500

Above is a daily chart of the SP500 with a possible wave count. We are busy completing a C wave down of an ABC correction of wave 4. One more new high and then this market is in trouble.

We believe that any move to the 3200 area should be viewed as a buying opportunity.

We are falling into our Time factor and we feel that a low is approaching any day now. We expect a rally until late January.

FTSE 100

Above is a graph of the FTSE 100 index. We hit major Gann support, Fibo support and Gann Fan support (5500). The index has clearly fallen into our Time cycle and we feel that the index is bottoming here.

We expect a bounce to the 6500 area. Keep a stop loss at 5400.

APPLE (AAPL)

Above is a daily graph of AAPL with a wave count and a Gann 45 degree Fan. From the 104 low Apple has rallied 5 waves. This implies that the correction from the all-time high is over (104) and that the recent correction from the 126 high is just a wave 2 down, and Not a “C” down.

We have fallen into our Time Cycles and hit an important support on the Gann Fan at 112 – 113 area.

All this bodes well for further gains down the road as the stock must do a 3 up, 4 down and 5 up to new highs.

Conclusion

We feel a low is approaching in markets in the next week, and that it is time to accumulate.
